River Pointe™

Like hand-crafted carriage house doors from the past, RiverPointe™ doors include four models that appear to swing, fold or slide open. The simulated one-piece swing-up style, the swing-out style, the side accordion style, and the bi-fold style will integrate a home's design, providing architectural continuity and unsurpassed character at affordable prices.

SWING-UP

The simplicity of the one-piece swing up doors remind you of the past. Windows are added to break up the strong vertical orientation of the design, creating the perfect complement to modern, traditional or rustic architecture.

More configurations available. Ask your dealer for details.

SWING-OUT

The classic split-look is reminiscent of swing out doors from turn-of-the-century carriage houses, country homes and cottages. Decorative bucks and windows add variety to the design, while accenting with optional wrought iron handles and hinges complete the look.

More configurations available. Ask your dealer for details.

ACCORDION

The three-segment may look like it accords to the side, but horizontal section breaks allow the door to open upward. Half bucks add character to the design, while the arch top satisfies architectural styles that dictate a curved top appearance.

BI-FOLD

Bi-Fold carriage doors imitate the classic beauty and strength with a four-segment facade. Windows offer great variety to the design, often balancing a home's architectural period and style.
